- Amy Ostdiek is assisting Becky Mitchell by also travelling throughout Colorado to capture water issues and report back.
- Law of Colorado River-Emily Halversen
 - Big Three
 - Co River Compact 1922-contract among states authorized by the US Constitution and ratified by US Congress and state legislators-falling under Federal and State law.
 - Mexico Treaty 1944-1.5 MAF; reduced allotment in extraordinary drought years
 - Upper CO River Compact 1948-apportions water among states on a percentage basis of total water supplies available.
 - Functional Four
 - Boulder Canyon Project Act 1928-authorized construction of Lake Mead
 - CO River Storage Project Act 1956-prioritizes Lake Powell, Flaming Gorge, Navajo, Aspinall Reservoirs
 - AZ vs CA Supreme Court Case 1963-apportioned water with 3 lower basin states-Nevada-California-Arizona
 - CO River Basin Project Act 1968-authorized central Arizona Project; and releases and storage of Lake Powell
 - Summarized points of the Colorado River Compact 1922
 - Compact is both state and federal law-1st interstate
 - Defines the Colorado River and tributaries
 - 7.5 MAF allocation for both the Upper and Lower Basin states
 - Provides water to Mexico will come from surplus water “recognized deficiency” shall be equally borne by the Upper and Lower Basin
 - The Upper Basin is not the cause of the flow issues at Lee’s Ferry being depleted below aggregate of 7.5 MAF

5. General Discussion - Colorado River Issues

- Upper CO River Compact 1948 divides allocation among states based upon percentages of available water
 - CO 51.75%
 - UT 23.00%
 - NM 11.25%
 - WY 14.00%

	2019	2020	2021
Water in Lake Powell	12.9 MAF	5.8 MAF	3.5 MAF
Water Out of Lake Powell & Lake Mead	9.0 MAF	8.23 MAF	8.23 MAF

- The Lower Basin continues to pull more water than was available.
 - The Bureau of Reclamation released a draft of supplemental EIS
 - Lower Basin does not have priority. They need to use less water on a permanent basis
 - Focus on rebuilding water levels/storage in Lake Mead and Lake Powell
 - The Lower Basin is now willing to acknowledge overuse
- June 2022: Bureau of Reclamation called for 2-4- million AF in conservation.

- o Upper Basin devised a 5-Point Plan and continues to manage water within the means of what is available. The Upper Basin was never out of compliance and responded with:
 - System Conservation Pilot Program SCPP
 - Demand Management Feasibility Investigation
 - Drought Response Operation Agreement (DROA)
- SCPP
 - o Earlier application window began in October 2023
 - o Pay water users not to use water on a temporary basis
 - o Transparent pricing mechanism
 - o Increased education and outreach
 - o Expand information and opportunity to provide comment
 - o Prioritize projects that support innovative water conservation development of drought resiliency tools
- Climate variability is real
 - o Prepare for variability
 - o Prepare for both ends of hydrology-dry and wet years
 - o Be flexible
- How can the Public Engage with CWCB-Emily Zmak
 - o Encourage Basin Input
 - o Give Becky Mitchell material to engage with
